COLOMBOSTILE CONTRACT DIVISION

Founded in Meda in 1886 within the heart of Brianza area, the home of furniture since the nineteenth century. In 1973 Colombostile changed from being a family firm to an efficient international organization. Thus it became a point of reference for interior designers who preferred the utmost quality of "HAND MADE and MADE IN ITALY".

The crown jewel of Italian furniture, the Company has a very well-known reputable reputation all over the world and is also known for furnishing historical institutions such as embassies, boutique hotels, and even the Kremlin Palace. Nowadays Colombostile is one of the most iconic symbols of luxury Italian goods that exports mainly in Europe, the Middle East, Russia, India, China, and within the US. What's more where the quality of the materials used are praised and appreciated by all.

Colombostile developed this notion whereby design and materials must instil the "idea" of refinement throughout a project and not just the supply of furniture. Subsequently Colombostile felt the need to expand its services by creating its Contract Division in order to further meet the needs and requirements of some of the most exigent Clients. Thus Colombostile began building up its Contract Division by developing projects geared towards luxury homes and then eventually carried it across to other sectors.

Now, with more than thirty years' of experience at an international level in "turnkey" projects, Colombostile's Contract Division can boast versatility in many different types of project, from private homes to hospitality and leisure.

ORGANISATIONAL HIERARCHY

The organizational structure within Colombostile is built upon flexibility and customizing, with central Headquarters located in Meda. Situated within the headquarters of Colombostile lies an elegant Showroom, which demonstrates Colombostile impeccable quality and execution regarding the design, manufacturing of its various furniture collections and projects. The showroom consists of three diverse floors, redesigned to project a full ambiance of various collection such as Classical, Eclectic and Contemporary.

RESIDENTIAL

Luxury Villa

This luxurious villa, built just outside Moscow, is characterised by the eclecticism and attention to detail of its interiors. The very contemporary tone of this property has been embellished using special items such as stuccoed walls and the exclusive design of the false ceilings. The furniture, like jewels, is perfectly integrated with this fantastic context and adds personality to the rooms.

Prestigious Apartment

Situated in one of the most important skyscrapers in Manhattan, this elegant 6,500 square-foot apartment brings together perfectly versatile quotations from various styles and cross-overs; Art Deco details are mixed with classical structural architecture.

Penthouse

Natural light is one of the most important topics in this prestigious seaside Penthouse. Here the rooms, all contemporary and separated by transparent walls, follow one another, each of them made special using a palette of well-defined materials. Metallic details, embellished with a touch of fashion, are masterfully interpreted in the bedroom to give that vaguely Parisian atmosphere which the owners particularly like.

Private Mansion

Prestigious dwelling, placed in one of the most exclusive residential areas of Moscow. The range of colours used is natural, like the materials chosen: marble inlays and precious woodwork come together in custom-made mahogany and cherry wood productions, brought out with gold leaf carvings.

GOVERNMENT & STATE BUILDINGS

Representative Palace

Important representative complex, designed to welcome delegations from guests during state visits. The splendid structure is celebrated by special inlay work on the marble floors and the use of stucco on the ceilings. Imposing double doors, with bronze details and profiles, open onto the most important areas where heads of state are received.

Embassy

The philological attention to each and every detail is the underlying theme in this luxurious Embassy, just a stone's throw from the Arc de Triomphe in Paris. The spaces in this exquisite "hotel particulier" come to life again in their former glory, where etiquette and representation have always been at home. Colombostile productions are important cameos in these places of unquestionable beauty.

The Kremlin Palace

It has been an honour to be able to take part in one of the most important state restoration projects of the last century: the Kremlin. Hundreds of doors and panels of breathtaking historical importance have been faithfully rebuilt, just as they were in the Czar's day.

Tables for meetings with ambassadors and Empire-style drawing rooms have been redesigned and built using the original finishes, and the quality fabrics were found behind old panels attached to the walls.

Restoration work was also carried out in the in the majestic Throne Room, one of the most special and most splendid rooms ever made, its barrel vault ceilings have been completely redecorated using stucco and pure gold leaf, and is now a treasure chest within this historic palace.

HOSPITALITY

Hotel Lord Byron

Historically and extremely important, this Boutique Hotel is one of the most outstanding examples of Roman hospitality. Its refined Art Deco has been masterfully voiced in the restyling of thirty-two suites and the common areas. A faithful reissue of original furniture by Ruhlmann, with the owner's collection of works of art from the 1920s, bring back that Parisian "grandeur" of the early twentieth century.

Hotel Carlton

The former glory of the Czar's summer residence is brought back to life with the special renovation work on this; the most historic hotel in St Moritz. Work was entrusted to architect Carlo Rampazzi, with a view to giving back that spirit of nobility which the hotel once had, and a modern sense of comfort and luxury in a completely new way. The result is sixty suites with an unmistakable personality (with its warm tones so typical of Swiss tradition), the two top-class restaurants, and the superb lobby made out of the former ballroom.

Iconic Colombostile products have been sagely proportioned with custom-made products and structures in an eclectic game of shapes and colours. Work by the company involved supplying everything for suites and the common areas, including bars and restaurants.

Burj Al Arab

The world's first seven-star hotel. The "Dhow Sail" of Dubai. The hotel world's temple of luxury welcomes its guests with iconic pieces by Colombostile. The main lobby opens onto rooms in the "New Tradition" collection, which are perfectly in tone with the eclectic spirit and extreme staginess of this place. Details on the inlaid wooden legs and gold plated curls have become the leitmotif of the overall interior plan. The company also took care of decoration in several of the more important suites.

Hotel De Russie

A green oasis a very short distance from the Spanish Steps in Rome. This is the Hotel De Russie, one of the most important hotels in the city. Inside the elegant, classical building is the learning Alliance between classical modernity and contemporary elegance, as can be seen in plans for the public spaces. The main suites continue to mouth this planning language and give all the rooms the allure of the passing centuries.

Hotel Four Season

In one of the most important buildings in Florence, the cradle of the Renaissance, is the Hotel Four Season. Its architect Rochon has signed its interiors with unparalleled taste and refinement.

The most recherché styles are brought together with clever mastery, turning the corridors and courtyards into sumptuous reception areas. The restaurant, and some of the more prestigious suites, glitter with a new light which is as soft as it is noble thanks to the sense of overall balance given to the furniture.

SPECIAL PROJECTS

Doha International Airport VIP lounge Counters

Top-of-the-range engineering carried out with true expertise by the able hands of Colombostile's craftsmen. Racy lines for counters which, like the hull of a sailing ship, make for sophisticated interplay between light and shade. Monoliths penned by Antonio Citterio, who has designed the interiors of the VIP lounge in what is expected to be the most important air terminal in the world.

Only quality materials have been used and these reflect Italian craftsmanship, so beloved by designers: hand-beaten polished bronze plates for the body which completely covers the wooden and metallic structure.

Juba International Airport VIP and Presidential Lounges

Decorative elements of African inspiration become the distinctive design for the glass partitions between these VIP lounges, all fitted by Colombostile. Comfortable sofas and two-tone armchairs which use cherry wood can be found in the relaxation areas at the main terminal. The Head of State area has refined meeting zones with inlaid tables and leather armchairs, where the presidential discussion has been embroidered on.

Executive Office

On the top floor of one of the most modern skyscrapers in Doha, this elegant managerial office, artistic design for which was by Roberto Nicolai, brings together special details from the classical tradition and Art Deco with a modern architectural structure. Quality woods and leathers can be seen all over the curved walls, where they cover doors, boiserie, bookcases, and even an aquarium!
